

CHARLES M. RICK Jr

1915-2002

Has passed away in May 5th this year a Pioneer of plant genetic resources, whose innumerable achievements are remembered and cited by all scientists in this field. Charles will always be remembered for his passion, integrity and love both in his relationships with those who loved him and his lifelong study of plant genetic resources.

The Geneconserve invites his friends and students to send obituaries to be published in this page.
